IFRS 9 – Impairment of financial instruments

Martin Svitek

The training is focused on a comprehensive explanation of the IFRS 9 model for impairment of financial instruments which is based on expected credit losses. It describes requirements for assessment of significant credit risk deterioration as a distinguishing factor for booking the impairment based on 12-month or lifetime expected credit losses. Much space is dedicated to models for measuring the expected credit losses. Also special areas of impairment such as POCI, modifications of financial assets and disclosure requirements are explained.
